Subject: Instructions: review of consumer terms, refund policy and privacy notice before we start taking payments (Healthcare Crown Academy Ltd)

Dear [Solicitor's name],

Thank you for agreeing to look at this. Below is exactly what I would like you to do. Everything you need is in the attached Legal Review Pack (LEGAL-REVIEW-PACK.pdf). I am not a lawyer, so please write your advice in plain English and give me wording I can copy straight onto the website.

1. Who we are

- HEALTHCARE CROWN ACADEMY LTD, private company limited by shares, England and Wales, company number 17501904.
- Registered office: 71-75 Shelton Street, Covent Garden, London, WC2H 9JQ (a registered-office service address).
- ICO registration: ZC273259. Not VAT-registered.
- One director, no employees. Contact: themicrolaunchequation@gmail.com.
- We sell online learning apps for nurses, students and healthcare staff, mostly to consumers in the UK, the Gulf (Saudi Arabia, Qatar, UAE) and elsewhere, and a small number of team plans to employers.

2. Where we are now

- The websites are live, but payments are in Stripe test mode. No real money has been taken.
- I want to switch payments on as soon as the documents are legally sound. Your review is the last step before we do that.
- On 27 October 2026 I simplified the pricing to three plans:
    1. Crown Pass: a subscription that renews automatically, £5.99 a month or £39.99 a year, with a 7-day free trial. There is a founding offer: the first year is £29.99 for people who join by 31 January 2027, then it renews at £39.99.
    2. Gulf Pass: a one-off payment of US$50 for 3 months or US$69 for 6 months. It covers four Gulf nursing exams and includes the Crown Pass for the same period. It never renews.
    3. Lean Six Sigma Green Belt toolkit: a one-off payment of US$99 for 12 months, with a Certificate of Completion. It runs on a separate site with its own legal page.
- Evinca is a paid recognition and review programme. Its paid launch is planned for June 2027, and its terms are included for review now.

3. What I am sending you

LEGAL-REVIEW-PACK.pdf, one file in 8 parts:

Part	What it contains
1	A detailed brief (written so it can also be given to a legal AI tool; you can use it as a checklist)
2	Business facts
3	Products and prices, as live today
4	How buying, cancelling and refunds actually work in the system. This is the factual basis to check the documents against.
5	Personal data map
6	Changes made after an earlier informal review, plus 16 open questions for you
7	The full current text of every customer document (see below)
8	Supporting records: DPIA screening for our AI feature, records of processing, supplier list, and procedures for rights requests and complaints

You can also see the documents live:

Document	Link
Terms of use	https://healthcarecrownacademy.co.uk/terms
Subscriptions, cancelling and refunds	https://healthcarecrownacademy.co.uk/refunds
Privacy notice	https://healthcarecrownacademy.co.uk/privacy
Plans page, where people buy	https://healthcarecrownacademy.co.uk/subscribe
Lean Six Sigma terms, privacy and refunds	https://lss.healthcarecrownacademy.co.uk/legal.html
Evinca terms, fees and policies	https://account.healthcarecrownacademy.co.uk/en/terms

Optional: if you want to try the checkout yourself, it is in test mode. Create a free account, choose a plan and pay with card 4242 4242 4242 4242, any future expiry date and any CVC. No money moves. You will see the consent box before payment and the “Cancel and get a refund” button afterwards.

4. What I would like you to do

Task 1: Review each customer document against the law

For the documents in Part 7 (main terms, refunds page, privacy notice, Lean Six Sigma page, Evinca pages), please check them against:

1. Consumer Contracts (Information, Cancellation and Additional Charges) Regulations 2013:
    - pre-contract information
    - the 14-day cancellation period

    - the express request to start during that period
    - proportionate payment and the model cancellation form
    - whether we are right to treat our products as services rather than digital content
2. Consumer Rights Act 2015:
    - quality of services and digital content, and statutory remedies
    - unfair terms and transparency (Part 2, including the Schedule 2 grey list)
3. Digital Markets, Competition and Consumers Act 2024:
    - the unfair commercial practices rules already in force (pricing, urgency, drip pricing)
    - the new subscription rules expected in 2027: what we must build or change, and when
4. UK GDPR, the Data Protection Act 2018 and the Data (Use and Access) Act 2025:
    - transparency and lawful bases
    - international transfers (our suppliers are mainly US-based)
    - retention, users aged 16 to 17, the AI feature and the new complaints duty
5. PECR: our single first-party cookie (a daily-streak cookie with an off switch) and marketing emails.

Task 2: Check that the documents match what the system really does

Part 4 describes exactly how checkout, cancellation and refunds work in the code. Please tell me: - anywhere the documents promise something the system does not do - anywhere the system does something the documents do not tell customers

Task 3: Answer the 16 open questions (end of Part 6)

Questions 14 to 16 are new since the price change: - Q14, the Gulf Pass bundle: is it clear that the included Crown Pass ends with the Gulf Pass and never turns into a paid subscription? - Q15, the founding-price display: £39.99 struck through next to £29.99 “first year”, with a 31 January 2027 deadline. Is this a fair price comparison and genuine urgency? - Q16, withdrawn single-app plans: should the “existing holders keep it” sentence stay, given no real customer has one?

Task 4: Review the checkout and cancellation wording

Please check these specific pieces of text in Part 4 and on the plans page: - The consent box before payment. It is unticked, the payment button is disabled until it is ticked, and the consent time and version are stored. - The trial wording: “£0 today. Then £X on [date], renewing automatically…” - The two cancel buttons: “Stop renewal or update card” (access continues, no refund) and “Cancel and get a refund” (access ends, automatic refund). - Our refund rule: full refund within 3 days of paying, then price minus days used, until the end of day 14. - The limit: the instant refund button works once per person per product, and the pages say legal rights are not affected.

Are all of these lawful, fair and clearly worded?

Task 5: Data protection records

Please review Part 8 (DPIA screening for “Academy AI”, records of processing, supplier list and transfer mechanisms, retention schedule, and procedures for rights requests and complaints). Tell me: - whether anything is missing - whether a full DPIA is needed before we promote the AI feature

Task 6: International customers (flag only)

Many customers will be in Saudi Arabia, Qatar and the UAE, paying in US dollars under English law. Please flag any wording likely to be unenforceable or misleading for them, or for EU customers. I do not need full local-law advice. Also tell me if I should speak to an accountant about overseas VAT or digital-services tax.

Task 7: Business (team) customers

Team plans are sold to employers by email and invoice. Please advise whether we need separate business terms (B2B), and quote separately if you would draft them.

Task 8: My to-do list outside the documents

List anything I must do that is not a change to the documents: registrations, supplier agreements, records, Stripe settings, insurance and so on.

5. How I would like your advice set out

1. For each document, a table with these columns:
    - Issue
    - Exact quote from our text
    - Why it matters (which law, what risk)
    - Severity: Must fix before taking money / Should fix / Nice to have
    - Replacement wording, ready to paste
2. A yes/no verdict per document: is it fit to take real money once the “must fix” items are done?
3. Answers to the 16 open questions, numbered the same way.
4. A short owner to-do list (Task 8).
5. Plain English, about a reading age of 12, for both your notes and any customer wording.
6. If you prefer, tracked-changes Word versions of the documents as well as the tables.

Please do not: - weaken customers’ legal rights to make things safer for the business. If a term would be unfair, tell me and I will change it. - assume facts. If something is unclear, ask me and I will answer quickly.

6. Priorities

1. First: everything needed to switch on payments for the Crown Pass, the Gulf Pass and the Green Belt: the terms, refunds page, privacy notice, checkout wording and the Lean Six Sigma page.
2. Second: the 2027 subscription rules, so I can build them in time.
3. Third: the Evinca documents, as the paid launch is June 2027.

7. Practical points

- Before you start, please send me a fixed-fee quote (or an estimate with a cap) and a likely timescale, split by priority if that helps.
- Please confirm you have no conflict of interest.
- I can answer questions by email the same day. If anything in the system needs to change, I will make the change and send you the updated text.
- After the review I may come back with follow-up questions, or ask you to recheck the final wording. Please tell me how you charge for that.

Thank you. I look forward to your quote.

Kind regards,
