Subject: Request for review and written sign-off before we take payments: consumer terms, checkout and privacy (Healthcare Crown Academy Ltd, company 17501904)

Dear [Solicitor's name],

We are a small UK company selling online learning to nurses, students and healthcare staff. We have not taken any real money yet. Payments are in test mode and are blocked in our code until we have your sign-off.

I am asking you to review our customer documents and checkout, and then either sign them off or give me a list of must-fix items. I am not a lawyer, so please write in plain English and give me wording I can paste straight onto the website.

Before you start, please send me a fixed-fee quote (or an estimate with a cap), a likely timescale, and confirmation that you have no conflict of interest.

1. Who we are

- HEALTHCARE CROWN ACADEMY LTD, England and Wales, company 17501904.
- Registered office: 71-75 Shelton Street, Covent Garden, London WC2H 9JQ. This is a registered-office service address.
- ICO registration ZC273259. Not VAT-registered.
- One director, no employees.
- Important: the business is run day to day from Saudi Arabia and Jordan, where I live. Nothing is done from the UK.
- Contact: themicrolaunchequation@gmail.com.

2. What we sell

Product	Price	Type
Crown Pass: premium access to our learning apps (MedLex, Carecraft, Lumen)	£5.99 a month or £39.99 a year; 7-day free trial; founding first year £29.99 until 31 January 2027, then £39.99; lower US-dollar prices in some countries	Subscription, renews automatically
Gulf Pass: practice for four Gulf nursing exams, plus the Crown Pass for the same period	US$50 for 3 months or US$69 for 6 months	One-off, never renews
Lean Six Sigma Green Belt toolkit, with a Certificate of Completion (not accredited)	US$99 for 12 months (US$149 from 1 February 2027)	One-off, never renews
Evinca recognition programme: evidence review and published record	Application fees US$39 to US$299 (reduced fees from US$19), plus other items listed in the facts pack; paid launch planned June 2027	One-off fees

Most buyers will be consumers in the UK, Saudi Arabia, Qatar, the UAE, Jordan, the EU and elsewhere.

3. What has changed since my earlier instructions

1. New refund rule (my decision, 29 October 2026, now built). If a customer changes their mind within the 14-day cancellation period, they get a full refund, even if they have used the product. This is more generous than the law requires. A free trial cancelled = nothing charged. After 14 days there is no change-of-mind refund, but statutory remedies for faults remain. The old "full refund within 3 days, then minus the days used" rule is switched off.
2. One instant self-service refund per person per product. After that, customers can still cancel by email; their legal rights stay the same.
3. Green Belt: a change-of-mind refund withdraws the Certificate of Completion. A fault refund does not.
4. Checkout has two unticked, required boxes:
   - "I am 18 or over, or I am a parent or guardian paying for this account and I agree to the payment terms."
   - "I ask for my access to start now, during my 14-day cancellation period. I understand that if I cancel within that period I get a full refund."
5. Order confirmation email (with the full model cancellation form) and a cancellation acknowledgement email are sent automatically.
6. No built-in AI any more. Lumen users may add their own AI key, which stays in their browser.

7. Terms, refunds page and privacy notice are now version 2026-10-29.

All the facts are in the attached SIGN-OFF-FACTS.md (or PDF). Section 10 of that pack lists inconsistencies we noticed ourselves.

You can try the checkout yourself in test mode. Test checkout is limited to approved testers: create a free account and tell me the email you used, and I will approve it. Then choose a plan and pay with card 4242 4242 4242 4242, any future expiry date and any CVC. No money moves.

5. What I would like you to do

Task 1: Are the documents and checkout lawful and fair?

Please check the documents and the checkout flow against: 1. Consumer Contracts (Information, Cancellation and Additional Charges) Regulations 2013: pre-contract information, the 14-day period, the express request to start early, confirmation on a durable medium, the model form, and refund timing. 2. Consumer Rights Act 2015: statutory rights and remedies, and unfair terms and transparency (Part 2, including the Schedule 2 grey list). 3. Digital Markets, Competition and Consumers Act 2024: the unfair commercial practices rules now in force (for example the founding price and its 31 January 2027 deadline, regional prices, drip pricing), and the subscription contract rules expected in 2027: what we must build, and from when. 4. UK GDPR, the Data Protection Act 2018 and the Data (Use and Access) Act 2025: transparency, lawful bases, international transfers, retention, users aged 16-17, and the complaints duty. 5. PECR: our sign-in cookie, our opt-in streak cookie, and marketing emails.

Please also tell me anywhere the documents promise something the system does not do, or the system does something the documents do not explain (section 4 and 5 of the facts pack describe what the system does).

Task 2: Product classification and the consent wording

1. For each product (Crown Pass, Gulf Pass, Green Belt, Evinca), is the contract for services, digital content not on a tangible medium, or mixed?
2. Given that we now give a full refund for any change of mind within 14 days, is our "start now" box worded correctly? Do we need it at all, one box or two, and does the wording need to differ for digital content and for services?
3. Is it acceptable that the start-now box is required (a buyer cannot choose to wait 14 days for access)?
4. Does the 7-day free trial change anything for the Crown Pass?
5. Is it fair and lawful to withdraw the Green Belt certificate after a change-of-mind refund?
6. Is the "one instant refund per person per product" limit fair, given the email route?

Task 3: Buyers outside the UK (please flag; full local advice not needed)

Please flag anything likely to be unenforceable, misleading or risky for consumers in Saudi Arabia, Qatar, the UAE, Jordan and the EU, including our English-law and courts clauses. Because the business is run from Saudi Arabia and Jordan, please also say whether Saudi or Jordanian consumer, e-commerce, licensing or data-protection laws are likely to apply to the business itself, and what a local lawyer should check. If you can coordinate with a lawyer in either country, please say so and quote separately.

Task 4: Trader identity and address

The only UK address is the registered-office service. The business is run from Saudi Arabia and Jordan. Under the CCR (Schedule 2) and the Electronic Commerce Regulations 2002 (regulation 6): 1. Is showing only the registered-office service address plus our email acceptable for our trader-identity disclosures? 2. If not, what address must we show? Must I show my home address, or are there lawful alternatives (for example a genuine business or correspondence address in either country)? 3. How should the pages describe where the business is run from?

Please give practical options and the risk of each.

Task 5: Evinca

Please review the Evinca terms and fees pages for the June 2027 launch. In particular: the stage-based refund (it differs from the full 14-day refund on our other products; should it?), the “whichever is higher” promise, publication and revocation of records, appeals, account credit for reviewers, referral discounts, and how the review process (automatic evidence checks, owner decision, external reviewer for conflicts, borderline scores and appeals, 1-in-10 audit) is described.

Task 6: Sign-off

Please finish with your sign-off statement (the block at the end of this letter). If you cannot sign off yet, please list the conditions that must be met first.

6. How I would like your advice set out

1. For each document, a table: issue · exact quote · why it matters (law and risk) · severity (Must fix before taking money / Should fix / Nice to have) · replacement wording ready to paste.
2. A clear answer to each question in Tasks 2 to 5, numbered the same way.
3. A short list of things I must do that are not changes to the documents (registrations, records, Stripe settings and so on).
4. Plain English, please, for both your notes and any customer wording.

Please do not weaken customers’ rights to protect the business. If something is unclear, please ask me rather than assume. I can answer by email the same day.

Thank you. I look forward to your quote.

Kind regards,
